Fieldpoint Private Welcomes Andrew Randak

- Brown Brothers Harriman veteran brings Latin American practice to private wealth boutique -

Greenwich, CT – January 21, 2016 – Fieldpoint Private, the fast-growing wealth advisory and private banking firm serving ultra high net worth families and institutions, today announced that Andrew Randak has joined the firm as Managing Director and Senior Advisor. His practice is based in Fieldpoint Private's New York City offices.

Mr. Randak joins Fieldpoint Private following a 15-year career with Brown Brothers Harriman (BBH), where he managed approximately $1.25 billion in client assets and loans. At BBH, he was responsible for much of the firm's Latin American wealth advisory business, advising individuals and families, family offices, financial institutions and corporations in Argentina, Chile, Peru and Venezuela, on matters including wealth management, estate planning, corporate advisory and credit.

Prior to joining BBH, Mr. Randak served as a private banker at The Chase Manhattan Bank, including time in Chase's Santiago, Chile offices, where he managed the firm's private client lending platform.

"I serve some of the most successful families in Latin America, and they expect world-class thought leadership in investments and wealth planning," Mr. Randak said. "Equally, they also value a firm that delivers a personalized client experience and makes itself easy to do business with. These are exactly what they are finding with Fieldpoint Private."

Robert Matthews, Fieldpoint Private's President and CEO, said that wealthy families from around the world are finding it increasingly challenging to work with American firms. "At Fieldpoint, we welcome international clients, and we have assembled the knowledge and talent to deliver the intellect, access and exceptional service they have every right to expect," Mr. Matthews said. "Andrew is an important part of this and we could not be more pleased that he has chosen to come here."
